

Know Your Data.
Protect Your Data.
Wherever it resides...

Organizations struggle with knowing where their data resides, posing potential risk to data security and regulatory compliance. Great technology addresses many risks, but do you know what to do once it's installed?

The Challenges Organizations Face

Due to ever-changing and diverse workforce environments, employees are introducing new devices, apps, cloud environments...and DATA every minute of every day.

Data Discovery is highly intrusive by design and not all organizations are prepared to CONSUME the sheer volume of data uncovered. Data classification is often incorrect, riddled with human errors. Most importantly, organizations don't know what to DO with their data once they have discovered and classified it.

Challenges Cyera Solves For

I don't know what regulations I need to worry about

Visibility is only surface-level

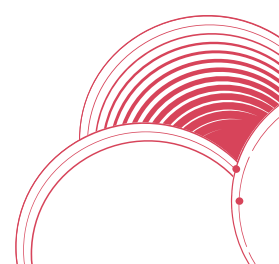

My data exists across all types of environments

I don't know where my personal data is located

I don't know what to do when I find the data

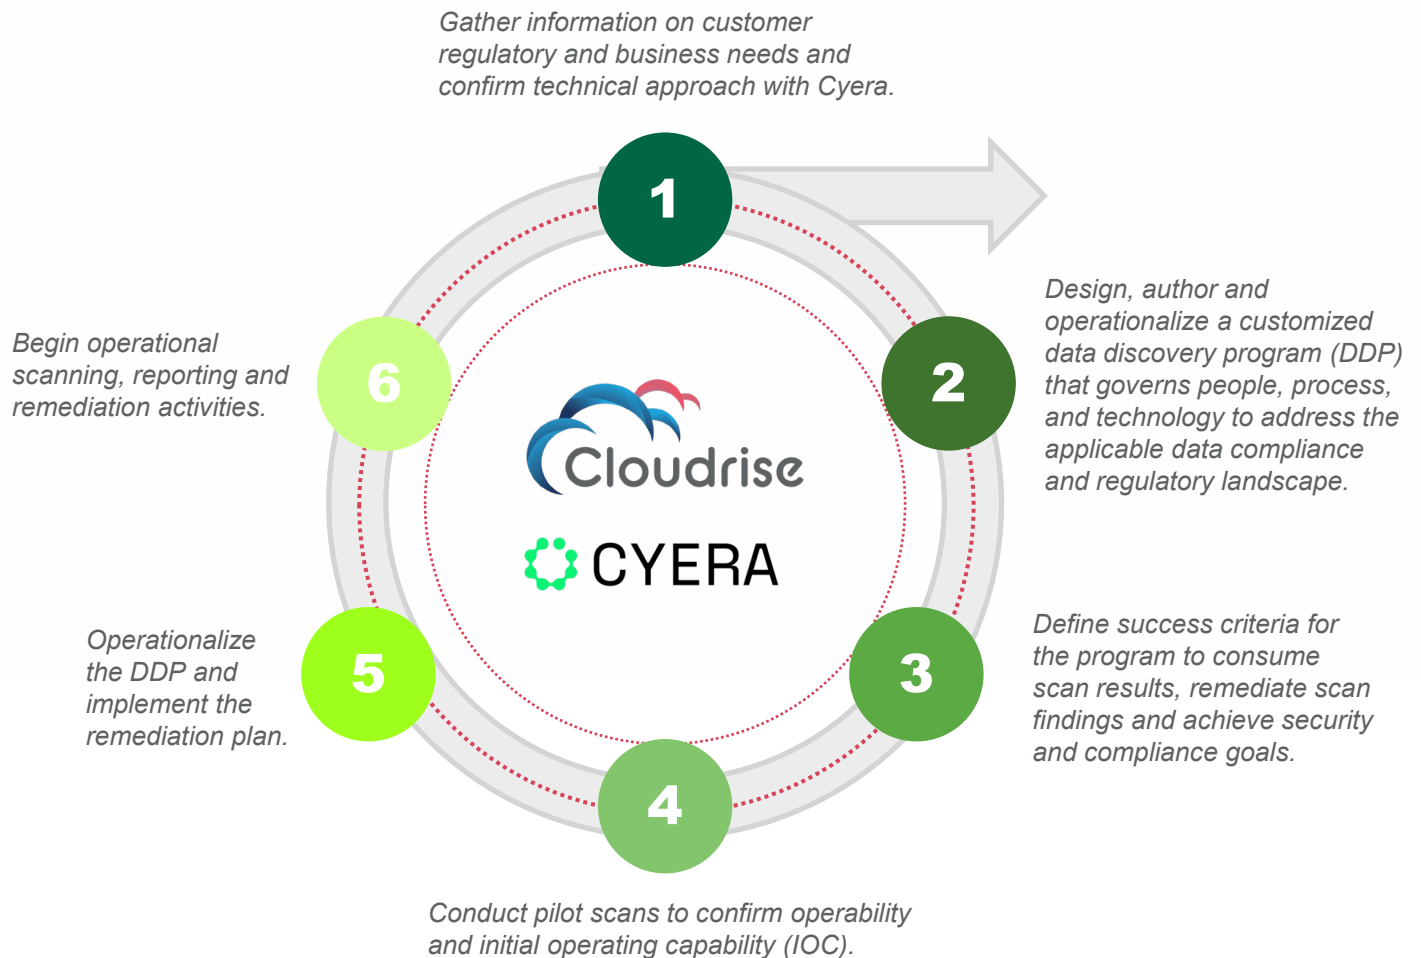

Why Cloudrise is an Important Layer in the Cyera Foundation

Organizations need a data discovery program that governs people, process, and technology to address the data compliance and regulatory landscape. Cloudrise combines a deep knowledge of cloud and data security solutions with a thorough understanding of business use cases, technology deployment and integration, and contextual knowledge to make your Cyera platform "sing". A successful data security program governs your people, processes, and technology – maximizing the value of your technology investments with a program that utilizes all their capabilities.

Our Recommended Approach

Collaboration with our partner, Cyera, is key. Once Cyera has deployed their platform in your environment, and configured custom infrastructure/connections, Cyera and Cloudrise work side-by-side to transition you to the next phase. Once we are handed the baton, we will...

Expected Outcomes

Together, Cyera and Cloudrise will help your organizations KNOW and PROTECT your data, wherever it resides. You may expect...

- Baselined current state of your data risk
- Increased visibility of your data and cloud applications
- Implemented technologies that integrate to your tech ecosystem
- Compliance with your organization's business, tech, and regulatory requirements
- Roadmap outlining path to securing your data
- Initial program developed to address your data protection, privacy, and cloud security needs
